RISK: THE EXHIBITION AND DISTRIBUTION OF WOMEN'S MEDIA

SATURDAY, MARCH 11

4:00 p.m.

Panel - Theater #1

This panel discussion will focus on the risks that women face when they venture into the heretofore male-dominated world of film exhibition and distribution. Whether women are organizing small-town film festivals or internationally famous ones, distributing women's media or running media-exhibition centers, they represent by their very presence an alternative to the mainstream. For women to say what they want to see, for them to say what they want to have seen by others is to articulate an alternative to what have been traditionally available to women.

THE EIGHTH ANNUAL WOMEN'S FILM AND VIDEO FESTIVAL

WOMEN'S CHAIR

1229 W. BELMONT CHICAGO, IL (312) 281-4988

As in the recent past, we have chosen to commemorate and celebrate March 8th, International Women's Day, with our 8th Annual Film and Video Festival. Because there are so few opportunities for the public to see works by women, WOMEN IN THE DIRECTOR'S CHAIR has devoted itself to building this festival into one of the most respected in the nation. The films and tapes in this festival amply demonstrate how much we are missing because most theaters, television stations and festivals do not show an adequate representation of work by women. We are missing the opportunity of seeing excellent work. But, more importantly, we are missing the unique perspective that comes from the experience of women.

LIVE AGAINST THE GRAIN
